Dear Project ASSET partners,

I thank you for your letter and detailed presentation of your projects results. Project “Assessment Tools for HE learning environments” (ASSET) is in its final months and after three years of successful activities, I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate you on your achievements.

Project ASSET aimed at developing and using best practices of Formative Assessment tools and methods to evaluate students’ life-long learning skills in student-centered learning environments and to adjust teaching to better meet student's learning needs. With these objectives, this project contributed to a field of national priority that we, at the Quality Assurance Division (QAD) at the Council for Higher Education, promote in the framework of national policies, regulations and initiatives.

I greatly appreciate the opportunity that was given me to learn about your project activities and outcomes. During the past three years, my team and myself could join the National Erasmus+ Office for the Project Monitoring meetings, during which I was provided with relevant information about the progress and achievements of the ASEST project. Moreover, I was happy to participate and contribute to the first ASSET national conference held on June 2018.

I was impressed by the commitment and professional work of all partners of the project, and hope that our collaboration will continue in the future. We continue to invite you to share with us the tools and materials produced in the framework of the project and will be happy to assist you in your dissemination efforts.

I would like to thank you for your hard work and dedication during the past three years.

Dr. Varda Ben-Shaul

Deputy Director General for Quality Assurance
